

14th Summer Institute on Migration and Global Health

July 10-13, 2019. Oakland & Berkeley,
California, USA

Migration is a complex phenomenon that has become an integral part of the modern world. International migration has substantially increased during recent years, driven by economic disparities, violence, and globalization among other factors. Currently there are an estimated 244 million international migrants in the world, and they face particular health challenges and conditions.

The Summer Institute on Migration and Global Health is an international event that provides an inter-disciplinary applied research platform for migration and global health, that includes public health, public policy, and social science perspectives.

Who should attend: Researchers, faculty, graduate students, and professionals working with or interested in migrant communities.

Format: The four-day course includes a combination of lectures, workshops, poster sessions, and field trips, to offer an exceptional opportunity not only to learn but also to create professional networks.

Location: The California Endowment Conference Center, Oakland, California & UC Berkeley School of Public Health

For more information & Registration:

MigrationAndGlobalHealth.org

Space is Limited!

Topics

- Current and historical trends on migration and global health
- Determinants of migrant health
- Access to healthcare
- Refugee health
- Research methodologies and data tools
- Global agenda on migrant health
- Occupational health
- Mental Health
- Climate change and migration

Sponsored and Organized by:

Berkeley Public Health